Vins à partager

MAISON LELIEVRE

Côtes de Toul

In the heart of Lorraine, nestled between the Meuse and Moselle rivers, the Côtes de Toul vineyards flourish on a distinctive terroir and lovely clay-limestone slopes. The vines benefit from a semi-continental climate and a wide variety of exposures. Long flying under the radar, the appellation is now experiencing a genuine revival. Driven by a new generation of winemakers and committed producers, it is dynamically asserting a unique and ambitious Lorraine winemaking identity.

Family

Based in Lucey for generations, the Lelièvre family has woven its own history together with that of the Côtes de Toul and the Lorraine wine region. Driven by a deep passion for the vineyard and the wine, they have continuously evolved the estate while remaining true to their roots. Today, Vincent and David carry this family legacy forward, driven by the ambition to showcase the excellence of their terroir and their wines.

Values

For the two Lelièvre brothers, being winemakers means cultivating the vines with exacting standards and respect for the environment. It means seeking the truest expression of the Lorraine terroir in every cuvée. It also means keeping Maison Lelièvre dynamic and moving forward—innovating in the vineyards and the cellar, launching new projects, envisioning new ways to share their wine, and contributing, in their own way, to the vitality of the Côtes de Toul region.

VINEYARDS & CELLARS

At Maison Lelièvre, viticultural and winemaking choices are guided by a single aim: to respect the Côtes de Toul terroir as fully as possible and reveal the unique expression of each vineyard plot.

In the vineyards—spanning some twenty hectares between Lucey and Bulligny—the work follows the rhythm of the seasons, incorporating green manures, gentle pruning, organic farming practices, and hand-harvesting.

In the cellar, the focus is on low-intervention winemaking and aging processes. These methods preserve the fruit, freshness, and finesse of the wines without masking the identity of their native terroirs.

WINES, BEERS & CO.

Over time and through continuous innovation, Maison Lelièvre has created a distinctive world of beverages, where every product range tells a story of the local terroir and the estate's history.

Lelièvre wines emphasize the expression of their origins and the unique character of the Côtes de Toul terroir. The "Les Évêques" range is crafted using locally sourced oak barrels for aging wines from the estate's oldest vines. Other cuvées, such as "Empreintes" and "eXpérience," offer a compelling interpretation of the grape varieties.

"Lapinouze" beers—organic, artisanal, fresh, and original—are rooted in Lorraine's rich brewing heritage.

Meanwhile, the spirits and fruit juices carry on the Lelièvre family's long-standing tradition of fruit growing.

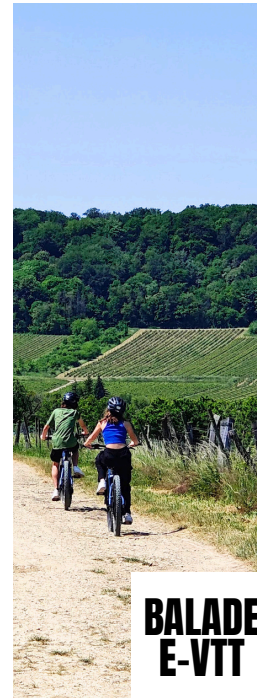

WINETOURISM

When visiting the Toulais area, Lorraine, and the Grand Est region, be sure to make a stop in Lucey. Maison Lelièvre would be delighted to welcome you and introduce you to the wines of the Côtes de Toul.

Wine tasting at the cellar is free and available on a walk-in basis.

For a more in-depth experience, tours of the vineyard and cellar are available. With Wine & Bike, you can discover the local terroir in a unique way through e-mountain bike rides tailored to your preferences.

These activities are available by appointment and can be booked online:
